THE HUNTING

At La Torcaza Lodge the program is focused on providing the very best decoyed pigeon hunting in the world. Within a 50 square mile radius of the lodge lie fields and roosts annually inhabited by over 5,000,000 pigeons. The lodge enjoys over 45 nearby shooting fields, with short scenic drives through the beautiful countryside.

More like a “dry-land” duck hunt than a dove hunt, pigeons offer incredible sport on fast-flying birds, as they both “buzz” the decoys and drop into the spread, you can expect some very challenging passing shots as well. Super wary, pigeons need to be given the utmost respect once you are in the blind. They will not tolerate movement and will shy off from the blind if the hunters do not remain well hidden. Our blinds are made from natural cover and are large and comfortable enough to make hunters as successful as possible.

Large, strong birds, pigeons can take more than you would expect to anchor them with your shot. Most of our hunters opt for 20 gauge shotguns, but 12ga are available, and 28ga offer a great challenge as well. These birds are large and fast-flying, which makes calculating their speed a bit deceptive, and so offer incredible sport both while decoying and pass shooting.

PIGEON HUNTING TIPS

Someone wise once said you can shoot doves, but you hunt for pigeons. It's not to say you won't shoot a bunch of shells, you will. But when you're at La Torcaza in Córdoba, it's best to approach pigeons as you would a waterfowl hunt. Take advantage of your blind to ensure birds are focused on decoys and not on you. In the blind, stay low and out of view. Pigeons have great eyesight and can spot unusual movement hundreds of yards away. Shoot quickly and, hit or miss, reload, and hide once again. Great pigeon shoots often happen over a short period of time, so getting down and ready will help make the most of the next opportunity.

Two types of wild pigeons can be found in Argentina and Uruguay, the Spot-Winged and the Picazuro. These are not the domestic pigeons found in rural barns and on city statues but fly and decoy more akin to a wild duck. Wild pigeons are tough, and their large wing surface areas make them fast and agile fliers.

DAILY ITINERARY

Most mornings will start around 8:00 AM with a hearty breakfast, followed by a short drive to the hunting grounds. In the field, you will be joined by a professional guide, who will set up the decoys and help get you situated in your blind. You will hunt 2 guns to a blind, and your guide will be nearby, identifying birds, providing you with shot shells, refreshments and overseeing your hunt.

Depending on the time of the year, you will shoot until just before noon, at which time you will return to the lodge and be treated to an incredible traditional Asado lunch at the lodge, featuring Argentina's wonderful beef and our exclusive wine.

Afternoon shoots begin at around 2 to 2:30, and continue until 5 or 6 pm, after which you will return to the lodge for cocktails at the wine cellar and early dinner.

David Denies' field guides are full-time professionals, with years of guiding and shooting experience; all of our staff are extremely knowledgeable, and their expertise will bring your experience to the next level.
